

Spelling list: Connectives - expressing opinion

apparently	You will apparently need to eat vegetables to be healthy.
certainly	I find Julia to be very intellectual, she most certainly will do well in life.
evidently	Evidently , there are more applicants than available places.
fortunately	Fortunately , most students are able to find a part-time job while they are at University.
naturally	Naturally , we all hoped for warm weather during the holidays.
logically	Logically , it is not possible for all students to attend University.
luckily	Luckily I did not throw the piece of paper away.
oddly	Oddly , the number of job applicants was the same every year.
officially	It looked like murder but officially , he could not say until after the autopsy.
view	There's a beautiful view from my balcony.
possibly	He couldn't possibly do anything wrong.
rationally	It is important to behave rationally when threatened with unemployment.
superficially	Many serial killers are superficially charming hiding the true evilness of their character.
surprisingly	Surprisingly , the two hour flight delay passed quite quickly.
understandably	He was understandably upset when he heard about England's defeat against Wales in the rugby for he had supported England all his life.