

Spelling list: LAURUS Year 8 - Beowulf 1

quintessential	If something is quintessential , it is the most appropriate and typical example of something. E.g, with her love of books, she was a quintessential English teacher.
plight	A plight is a a dangerous or difficult situation which results in a struggle.
enraptured	To be enraptured is to get great joy or pleasure out of something.
enthralled	To be enthralled by something is be completely fascinated and obsessed with it.
entranced	To be entranced is to be full of wonder and delight. E.g, she was entranced by the city lights.
kinship	A kinship is a strong relationship between two people or characters.
prosperity	Prosperity is a synonym for good fortune and is usually associated with wealth. If you have a lot of money, you are 'prosperous'.
seldom	If something seldom happens, it means it rarely happens.
comrade	A comrade is an ally or a fellow soldier.
courage	Courage is the ability to do something that frightens one. To act bravely.
humility	Humility is a synonym for being modest. It is the antonym to arrogance.
liberate	To liberate is to free someone from something.
hubris	Hubris is excessive pride or arrogance.
cavernous	If something is described as cavernous , it has dark, vast depths (like a cavern).
inexorable	If something is inexorable , it means it is impossible to stop or prevent.