

Spelling list: ly suffix - Red

awkwardly	The teachers danced awkwardly at the school disco.
aimlessly	The cloud sailed aimlessly upon the horizon.
anxiously	Students anxiously waited for their exam results.
curiously	Curiously , he was wearing his coat on backwards.
eternally	He was eternally grateful to the lifeguard for saving him from drowning.
enviously	He enviously watched on as the man drove off in the expensive car.
jealously	She stared jealously at her brother's ice cream.
impatiently	I waited impatiently for her arrival.
pitifully	He looked pitifully at the hungry beggar sitting at the side fo the road.
savagely	The bear attacked the man savagely .
severely	He was severely hurt and so needed to go to hospital.
dreamily	Dreamily , she looked out of the window.
involuntarily	He jumped up involuntarily as he sneezed.
unnecessarily	Showing unnecessarily anxious or concerned behaviour.
extraordinarily	It was extraordinarily cold and so the children were not allowed to play outside without gloves.
frantically	He waved his arms frantically .
dramatically	The car crashed into the wall dramatically .
artistically	The painter artistically splattered paint onto the canvas.
tragically	Tragically , many people were killed during the war.

majestically

The Queen waved majestically at her many supporters.