Spelling list: ly suffix - Red

awkwardly The teachers danced awkwardly at the school disco.

aimlessly The cloud sailed aimlessly upon the horizon.

anxiously Students anxiously waited for their exam results.

curiously Curiously, he was wearing his coat on backwards.

eternally He was eternally grateful to the lifeguard for saving him from drowning.

enviously He enviously watched on as the man drove off in the expensive car.

jealously She stared jealously at her brother's ice cream.

impatiently I waited impatiently for her arrival.

pitifully He looked pitifully at the hungry beggar sitting at the side fo the road.

savagely The bear attacked the man savagely.

severely He was severely hurt and so needed to go to hospital.

dreamily Dreamily, she looked out of the window.

involuntarily He jumped up involuntarily as he sneezed.

unnecessarily Showing unnecessarily anxious or concerned behaviour.

It was extraordinarily cold and so the children were not allowed to play extraordinarily outside without gloves.

frantically He waved his arms frantically .

dramatically The car crashed into the wall dramatically .

artistically The painter artistically splattered paint onto the canvas.

tragically Tragically, many people were killed during the war.

majestically The Queen waved majestically at her many supporters.